

Andrew Holtz, MPH, is a former CNN medical correspondent. Andrew Holtz is an independent journalist covering health and medicine from Portland, Oregon. He is a board member of the Association of Health Care Journalists, and was president from 2000 to 2004. He contributes articles on policy issues affecting health and health care to Oncology Times. He authored a new introduction for the re-issue of "How to Live 365 Days a Year," a classic health advice bestseller that popularized concepts of mind-body connections in health. He also hosted HoltzReport: Battle for Cancer for the Fuji TV network in Japan. He was Tobacco Issues Editor for In Touch magazine. His work has also appeared on the PBS television program HealthWeek, Medical Detectives on TLC and websites including Reuters Health. Holtz also was a 1998-99 Kaiser Media Fellow.