

PUBLIC HEALTH GRAND ROUNDS

MENTAL HEALTH IMPLICATIONS OF PUBLIC HEALTH EMERGENCIES

Moderator:

Matthew L. Boulton, MD, MPH, is Associate Professor of Epidemiology and Associate Dean for Practice at the University of Michigan's School of Public Health where he focuses his efforts on developing a comprehensive strategy for the School of Public Health to enhance linkages with public health practice. He is Director of the public health/preventive medicine residency in the School of Public Health and Director of the Office of Public Health Practice. He is the former State Epidemiologist and Chief Medical Executive for Michigan's state health department.

Presenters:

Sandro Galea, MD, DrPH, MPH, Associate Professor of Epidemiology at the University of Michigan School of Public Health. Dr. Galea is the co-director of the Disaster Research Education and Mentoring Center. He was formerly a medical epidemiologist and Associate Director at the Center for Urban Epidemiologic Studies at the New York Academy of Medicine. Research interests include: social and economic determinants of population health, epidemiology of mental health and drug use, consequences of disasters and mass trauma, and urban health.

Ellen J. Clement, MSW, MPH, Health Officer, Washtenaw County Public Health Department; President, Michigan Association of Local Public Health. Washtenaw County Health Department was honored in 2005 with the Michigan Special Public Health Community Achievement Award for organizational cooperation in achieving public health goals. In 2006, Ms. Clement received the Distinguished Public Health Practitioner Award from the University of Michigan School of Public Health.

Panelists:

Craig L. Katz, MD, Clinical Assistant Professor, Department of Psychiatry, Mount Sinai School of Medicine, & Vice-President, Disaster Psychiatry Outreach, New York, NY. Involved in the mental health response to the September 11th attacks through the World Trade Medical Monitoring Program.

Robert Winfield, MD, Chief Health Officer, University of Michigan & Director, University Health Services, Division of Student Affairs. Oversees all preparedness activities for the University of Michigan campus.

Cindra James, Public Health Preparedness Coordinator, Washtenaw County Public Health. Coordinates emergency preparedness planning, training and exercising for public health staff and acts as a liaison between public health and local, regional, state, and federal agencies.

Gary Logan, MSW, CSW, Community Mental Health Specialist, Prevention & Community Response Services of Washtenaw County Public Health. Involved in grief and crisis response service delivery as a trainer, consultant and crisis intervention coordinator/ responder in community, school and emergency services settings.

Agenda

- Case presentations
- Discussion with panel and audience facilitated by Matthew Boulton, MD, MPH, Associate Professor of Epidemiology, Associate Dean for Practice, University of Michigan School of Public Health

Target Audience

Public health leaders, managers and professionals from local and state health departments, hospitals, public and private clinics involved with the provision of mental health care, academic institutions, including faculty and students from public health and social work, and others interested in learning more about mental health preparedness.

Registration

Registration is required. To attend the on-site session or to view a live webcast at your personal computer with Internet connection, go to www.mipreparedness.org and select your preferred option.

Questions?

Email prepared@umich.edu or call 734-763-6526 for additional information

This project is supported by a Cooperative Agreement from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, number U90/CCU524243-03.

www.mipreparedness.org